

Homecoming Plans Start Taking Form

By Darrell Jobman

"Kalm the Kitties."
"Truth Triumphs."

If you haven't heard those phrases before, you soon will. These are the slogans for Wartburg's Homecoming the weekend of Oct. 29, when the Knights play the Iowa Wesleyan Wildcats.

"Kalm the Kitties" is the game slogan, and "Truth Triumphs" is the overall theme for Homecoming.

"THE THEME will be expressed through campus decorations, floats in the parade and worship services," said senior Don Poppen, general chairman.

The pattern of this year's Homecoming weekend will be similar to last year's, but there will be some minor changes and some complete innovations. The biggest change is replacing the banquet with an informal smorgasbord.

Schroeder

The smorgasbord will start shortly after the game, according to Poppen, to attract more of those who might want to leave early in the evening. Poppen feels that a smorgasbord will give the alumni more of a chance to talk over old times and should attract more students and faculty members.

For the first time a traveling trophy will be given the dorm or organization which does the best decorating, according to Bob Albers and Sonia Syverson, co-chairmen of campus decorations.

Among the other main events scheduled for the big Homecoming weekend are Kastle Kapers, the Homecoming parade, a Saturday night dance and the worship services Sunday morning.

The weekend begins with a Homecoming convocation scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 27. Friday there will be a special alumni chapel service in the chapel-auditorium.

KASTLE KAPERS takes the Friday night spotlight. The cast is almost complete for the "Moonlight in Manhattan" spectacle, according to Director Bill Schroeder, senior. Rehearsals have been held up because the music has not yet arrived.

Following the Kapers production, there will be a pep rally and bonfire to rouse up student spirit.

Saturday's events will be kicked off by room judging and rating of campus decorations. Open house for visitors will continue all morning.

The annual parade, led by the traditional figure, the Student Body president—this year Fred Mai—in armor, may begin half an hour earlier than last year. The 9:30 a.m. starting time depends on the bands, said Poppen. Several bands in addition to Wartburg's will appear, as will numerous floats.

Almost overlooked in all the other activity is the football game itself at 2 p. m. against the Wildcats as the Knights stretch for the league crown.

During half-time ceremonies the Homecoming queen will be crowned. The elections committee of the student senate, headed by Duane Nelson, will supervise the queen selection. Senior Ed Scharlau is in charge of arrangements for the queen. Beginning at approximately 5 p.m. will be the informal smorgasbord at St. Paul's parish house. Senior Gayle Turner is chairman.

"Southern Splendor" is the theme of the Homecoming dance Saturday night, according to Chairman Al Snook. The Imperials, an 11-man group from Milwaukee, will play for the dance.

SUNDAY MORNING services will also be based on the Homecoming theme, "Truth Triumphs." The speaker will be the Rev. Elmer Nelson, president of the Illinois district.

A queen's reception will be held Sunday afternoon. Sunday night the climax of the weekend will be the pageant "Martin Luther" presented by the Wartburg Players.

Novelties will be the same type as last year's—bells, pennants and buttons. In addition, helium-filled balloons will be sold.

Poppen also promised that there would be a "greater push on novelties this year than ever before."

Development Group Will Convene Here On Next Thursday

The Wartburg Development Council will meet Thursday.

The group will convene at 1:30 p.m. in the library, according to the Rev. Martin Ackermann, development director.

MAIN ADDRESS will be given by Herbert Knopp, development consultant from Valparaiso, Ind., who will discuss his concept of a development program for Wartburg.

Reports will be given by Attorney William Engelbrecht of Waverly on the work of the council's estate planning committee and by Melvin Kramer, Business Department, on a personnel management clinic held at Wartburg a year ago.

Chairman of the Wartburg Council is Merle Parr of Waterloo.

MEETING ON Thursday at 5:30 p.m. at Carver's Restaurant is the Wartburg College Castle Club.

This organization is made up of a group of friends of the college who are raising funds for the construction of a women's dormitory, which may begin this spring. Officers will be elected at this meeting.

The organization has already raised $31,000 in cash and pledges for the dorm project.

Ducats Here

Tickets for Wartburg's first Artist Series, the Branko Krsmanovich Chorus, here Oct. 19, will be available from 8 a.m.-12 noon and 1-4 p.m., Oct. 6 and 7, according to senior Jane Becker, Artist Series Committee.

Students may obtain their tickets by bringing their activity tickets to the booth in the foyer of the chapel-auditorium. All seats are reserved, and there will be no additional charge.

In addition to the chorus, four more Artist Series performances are scheduled throughout the year. The next one, the opera "Don Giovanni," will be held Nov. 14.

Jazz Music Artist To Appear Friday

By Chuck Jepsen

The Chris Barber Band makes its second appearance within a year at Wartburg College next Friday night.

The group, which performed at Wartburg last fall, will appear at 8 p.m. in the chapel-auditorium. Tickets are available in the supper line.

Barber

THE ENGLISH jazz band is now rated by many critics as the top jazz group in Europe. The band plays a variety of music, but its basic tunes feature the New Orleans sound.

The group's popularity increased considerably in 1959 with the success of the single "Petite Fleur." In all, this record sold over two million copies in America and Europe together, and the band collected a golden record on both sides of the Atlantic.

Barber and the band also provide the music for the Warner Brothers release "Look Back in Anger."

IN THE BRITISH jazz paper "Jazz News," the band was named tops, and Monty Sunshine, the Chris Barber clarinet player, was voted top traditional musician of the year.

The personnel of the band consists of Chris Barber, trombone; Monty Sunshine, clarinet; Dick Smith, bass; Pat Halcox, trumpet; Eddie Smith, banjo; Graham Burbridge, drums; and vocalist Miss Otilie Patterson.

ALTHOUGH BARBER has had a band since 1948, it was in 1951 that he gave up his job as an actuary and became a professional musician.

Monty Sunshine and Pat Halcox have been with the present-day band since its formation in 1954. Halcox is now rated as the best New Orleans trumpet player in Europe.

Miss Patterson is an Irish girl, who joined the group in 1955. She is rated today as among the finest jazz singers in Europe.

Before he became a professional musician, Barber was an actuary. His mathematical training permits him to amaze his associates with his memory of dates, attendance figures and other seemingly insignificant numbers.

Alpha House is handling the publicity for the event. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Final Enrollment Stands At 1,050

Wartburg's enrollment closed Tuesday at 1,050.

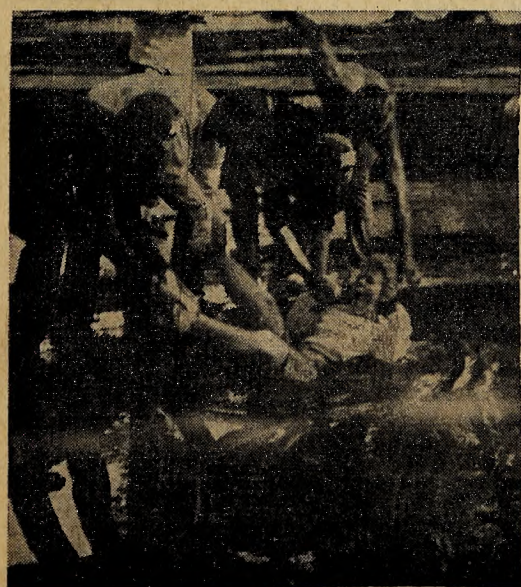

This year's final score of full-time students stands at 1,007. Forty-three part-time students swell total enrollment to 1,050.

Broken down into classes, there are 231 freshman men and 201 frosh women. Sophomore men number 141, while the women total 109.

The juniors have 102 men and 75 women. The men definitely dominate the senior class, however, as they outnumber the women 108 to 40. Of the special students, 9 are men and 34 are women.

This is the highest enrollment Wartburg has ever had. Last year the 1,000 mark was topped for the first time. Reflecting the increasing enrollment, the next building scheduled is an addition to Centennial Hall, women's dormitory.

Freshmen Have Their Day As Yearly Outfly Hits Wartburg Campus

WHAT WOULD WARTBURG do without a fishpond on Outfly? A coed here gets the full benefit of an early morning bath. Fall Outfly, 1960 version, dawned bright and crisp. For many freshmen and sophomores, it soon turned dull and soggy.

BUTTON, BUTTON, they all have to button. Hordes of freshmen balance on the inner railing of Bremer Avenue bridge in the annual bridge-buttoning ceremony. Outfly traditionally means the end of initiation for the beanied frosh.

FRESHMEN VS. UPPERCLASSMEN in a tug-of-war is a fitting climax for Outfly activities. The frosh bested the upperclassmen twice. Wartburg students took advantage of the day to get in a host of outdoor activities ranging from volleyball to riverbanking.

Quality Is Not Strained

Quality vs. quantity.
That age-old argument has been bandied about Wartburg with unusual dexterity during recent years. Thanks to the Admissions Department, the quantity part has never been seriously in question. Enrollment at Wartburg has grown steadily, setting a new all-time high each year. This term is no exception.

The quality part is a different story. Some have feared in the past that increasing emphasis on quantity would shove academic quality right into never-never land.

Although that elusive thing called quality is hard to measure, indications are that more and more of it is settling at Wartburg.

Take, for example, this year's freshman class, the largest in the history of the college. Mainly because so many of them scored extraordinarily high on the English placement test, three instead of the two sections in advanced communication skills used in previous years were needed.

Last year there were five National Merit scholars on campus, the largest number in the Iowa Conference. This year there are at least six at Wartburg.

The quality vs. quantity argument had its most vivid illustration in the science building-women's dormitory controversy last year. It is encouraging to note that preliminary plans for the science building were discussed along with more advanced plans for the dormitory at a Building Committee meeting last week.

The most encouraging sign, however, is the increasing challenge in the classroom. Students who have returned to Wartburg after interrupting their studies for a year or two have commented on the increased stimulation of the work.

A recent example of this trend may be found in the English Department, which is this year inaugurating a uniform policy of term papers and outside readings in its upper-division courses. Also under discussion are a critical essay for senior English majors and an enrichment program for advanced freshmen.

All graduating English majors must now have the approval of the entire department, instead of just the head of the department. The American literature program, which makes use of four senior scholar assistants, is also a challenge to both students and assistants.

Colleges nowadays seem to seek different levels for their student bodies. That Wartburg is making more and more provision for the growth of its individual students is extremely gratifying.

A quality school has a way of attracting quality students — in quantity.
Quality and quantity need not be at opposite poles.

Fall Pops Concert Here

Wartburg will have a fall pops concert Friday. Not only is it noteworthy that Wartburg has a fall concert — traditionally the concerts have been in the spring — but that there is a pops concert at all. Last year the concert was conspicuous by its absence.

Within the memory of all present Wartburg students, the pops concert has been a financial flop. Therefore, it was relegated to the has-been league last year.

This year, however, the picture looks rosier. Chris Barber, the concert artist, appeared at Wartburg last year and was well-received. The concert is being held before the Artist Series program begins. This year's Series does not include an entertainer of the more popular type, such as Fred Waring, who appeared here last year.

Alpha House, which is handling the concert publicity, is confident that the event will end in the black.

Student Body President Fred Mai also mentioned the possibility of a spring pops concert if the Barber performance is a financial success. Such a concert would be a welcome oasis in the humdrum social life stretching from the last Artist Series Feb. 12 to the Prom in May.

A campus the size of Wartburg should be able to support a pops concert in addition to an Artist Series of more classical entertainment. It should be able. Friday will show if it can.

During the first meeting of the public-speaking class, Mr. Smith informed his students that the only excuse for not having a speech prepared would be a death in the family. Of course, it must be the speaker's own death.

Did more freshmen or sophomores get thrown into the fishpond Outfly morn???

Optimist: Only 77 days until Christmas vacation.
Pessimist: Only 114 days until semester tests.

Student goes through lunch line. Finds table. Sets down tray. Forgets milk. Goes back to lunch line. Brings back milk. Finds tray gone. Must find guilty cart-worker. Can't find guilty cart-worker. Well, he wasn't hungry anyway.

Roman Catholic Nominee Is Problem To Protestant Voter This Election Year

By Bill Goetz

For the first time in 32 years a Roman Catholic is a nominee of a major political party for the Presidency of the United States.

Each American Protestant qualified to vote is now faced with the responsibility of taking a stand on what has been termed the religious issue in the campaign.

The Citizens for Religious Freedom, an association of 150 Protestant clergymen and laymen, including such influential men as Dr. Daniel Pohlman and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, has issued a declaration charging:

"It is inconceivable that a Roman Catholic President would not be under extreme pressure by the hierarchy of his church to accede to its policies with respect to foreign relations, including representation to the Vatican."

"Is it reasonable to assume that a Roman Catholic President would be able to withstand altogether the determined efforts of the hierarchy to gain further funds and favors for its schools and institutions, and otherwise breach the wall of separation of church and state?"

Goetz

The charges are serious and demand serious consideration. The excellent article on the issue in the Sept. 19 issue of TIME magazine indicates that not all Protestant leaders are swayed by such arguments.

Episcopal Bishop James Pike believes that ruling out a Roman Catholic candidate simply because of his religion "is both bigotry and a violation of the constitutional guarantee of no religious test for public office."

Dr. Paul Tillich has recently stated: "I believe the time must come in which America must take the risk of having a Catholic candidate. Every election is a risk. Nixon would be a risk for other reasons."

As Tillich implies, the religious issue is a valid argument in considering the relative qualifications of Nixon and Kennedy. However, the intelligent voter will take into account the religious convictions of each individual as such, rather than attempt to establish such a generalization as that a Roman Catholic must, on the grounds of his religion, be rejected as a Presidential candidate.

First American Football Game Observed By Mueller, Foreign Exchange Student

By Kristian Mueller

(Kristian Mueller, a second-semester junior from Bonn, Germany, is currently studying here as an exchange student. A Wartburg student, Faith Dettmann, attended Bonn University last year. Last Saturday Kristian saw his first football game. Here are his impressions:)

At first all looked like a carnival. The people seemed excited and did not worry about the rain.

Suddenly, about twenty minutes before kickoff, lots of white guys with dangerous helmets — looking like men from outer space — ran onto the battlefield.

They immediately started to demonstrate odd movements. The fellow on my left told me that these were the losers. I was surprised by the fact that the losers of the match were already known before it had started at all. (Only later I understood that he meant the Luther team).

A uniformed band played some hits and again people from Mars appeared, this time in different uniforms.

The onlookers gave a big hand for them. They already knew them and called their names.

The mood was like shooting a rocket to the moon. Again the helmets took their position on the field. Then, after a whistle had blown, one of the white players kicked an egg of leather nearly out of the stadium, had not another player caught it in the very last moment.

At once the latter started running towards the middle of the field, or rather, he tried to. But halfway he met some white helmets, who seemed not to be his friends.

They pulled his arms and legs and pushed him to the ground. But that was not enough. All the others standing around threw themselves on that poor guy. I was sure they were going to kill him. At last he was freed.

Again the players took their positions like fighting bulls and ran directly into one another. It seemed to me as if they were going to test their helmets.

During the rest of the match I never saw the ball again, only once or twice, when it was kicked high up into the air. The people in the stadium enjoyed these actions very much. Meanwhile, all were cheered up by the band and some cheerleaders.

On the board, confusing numbers appeared, and all onlookers were shouting, "We want a touchdown!" I could make no sense of that. Then the crowd shouted, "5 - 4 - 3 - 2 - 1 - over!"

The Wartburg Knights are said to have won the match 20-7, but don't ask me why and how.

Artist Series To Present Varied Fare

Music, Opera, Drama Scheduled in Program

By Elaine Melchert

Ballet, opera, drama and music will be presented during this season's Artist Series.

Performing are the Branko Krsmanovich Chorus, the Grand Opera Theater, the Beaux Arts Trio, the Canadian Players, Ltd., and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

OPENING Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m., will be a concert by the Branko Krsmanovich Chorus of Belgrade University, Yugoslavia.

This chorus, composed of 40 men and 40 women, is one of Europe's oldest and most distinguished organizations. This season it will be making its first American tour.

Under the direction of Bogdan Babich, the chorus has received top honors in festivals and has toured England, China, Germany, Russia and Italy. It has been a consistent winner at the most critical international music competitions.

Among the honors received are the World Festival, Vienna, 1959; World Festival, Moscow, 1957; International Eisteddfod Music Festival, Llangollen, Wales, 1956; and three first prizes in the International Polyphonic Contest at Arezzo, Italy, 1955.

Mozart's "Don Giovanni" will be staged on the Wartburg campus at 8 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 14. The presentation will be given by the Boris Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater.

Featuring a company of 50, the production will include an orchestra, chorus, new costumes, new scenery and a new scenic projection system which will make possible eight completely different scenes.

THE BEAUX ARTS Trio will appear on Monday, Dec. 12, at 8 p.m. Composed of three artists, Daniel Guilet, violin; Bernard Greenhouse, cello; and Menahem Pressler, piano, the trio has been hailed by critics and audiences on two continents.

For five successive seasons they have been artists at the famous Berkshire Music Festival, two years artists in residence at the University of Indiana and have a record number of performances as guest artists with major American symphony orchestras.

Canadian Players, Ltd., will present "Julius Caesar" on Thursday, Jan. 19, at 8 p.m.

This group, formed in 1954, was the first recipient of a substantial grant by the Canada Council, a philanthropic body to aid the most deserving of its country's cultural endeavors.

Denis Carey, a Briton, will direct the cast on this tour. He is regarded as one of the top directors in the theatre today. Also directing will be Tony Ban Bridge, an English actor-director.

THE LAST Artist Series performance will be held Sunday, Feb. 12, at 8 p.m. The program will feature the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

Originating in Italy during the 15th century, ballet employs many artistic talents. It blends the efforts of composer, painter, librettist, choreographer and dancer.

Nina Novak, leading prima ballerina, has the distinction of having reached that rank more quickly than has any other artist in America today. Miss Novak was born in Warsaw, Poland, and appeared for the first time in America with the Polish Ballet at the New York World's Fair in 1940-41.

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo's Premier Danseur is George Zoritch. He has appeared in motion pictures, Broadway musicals, light-opera presentation, television and at the Radio City Music Hall in New York City.

"The club is both for social activities and for those students who will fly," said Roose. "If we have ten or twelve members who fly, we will rent a plane at the Waterloo Municipal Airport."

The monthly meetings will include speakers and movies. A ground school for those planning to fly or interested in aviation may also be held.

Jr. Heads Named

Mary Markle, Charles City, was chosen Junior-Senior Banquet chairman at the junior class meeting Thursday night. Alan Snook, Coulter, was selected to head the Prom Committee.

Harriers' Season Opens With ISTC

Wartburg cross-country Knights open their season this coming Tuesday as they face a tough Iowa State Teachers College squad at 4:15 p.m. at the Waverly golf course.

ISTC boasts a nucleus of three returning lettermen from a good squad of a year ago. Included are Corwin, Aperans and Honnold, who helped lead the squad to a 15-45 win over Wartburg a year ago.

Last Saturday TC lost a tight match, 37-24, to a tough Winona State squad, which the Knights face Saturday. The winning time over a two-mile course was a respectable 9:34.

Wartburg will have only one returning letterman, Clint McLagen from St. Paul, Minn. To back him up, Coach Ax Bundgaard has a young squad consisting of one sophomore and ten freshmen.

Cross-country Schedule

- Oct. 4—ISTC, Here
- Oct. 8—Winona State, Here
- Oct. 15—Wis. State of Platteville, There
- Oct. 22—Simpson, There
- Oct. 27—Loras, Here
- Nov. 1—Luther, There

Borcherding Adds To Baseball Note

Jim Borcherding, ace southpaw of Wartburg's baseball team, added more laurels to his collection last summer.

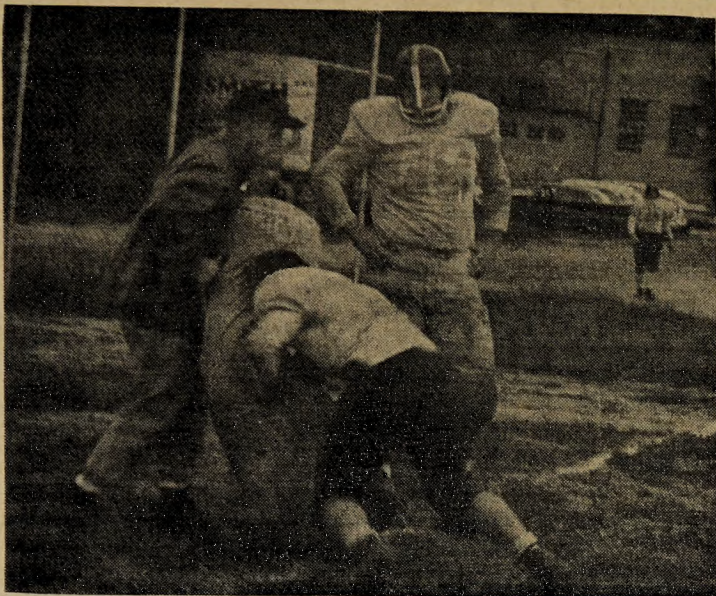

Starting the season with his home-town, Sumner, team, he was drafted by the Denver (Iowa) Blue Sox later in the summer to compete in the Iowa state tournament.

Denver won the state tourney and advanced to the regionals in Pierre, S.D., where it finished second to Seattle, Wash.

Borcherding, plagued by a pulled muscle in his shoulder, still managed to help the tourney squad, as he compiled a 1-0 record. Last year he also went to the tournament, but with a different club, Dysart, which also finished second.

Lettermen Elect

Senior Dave Siefkes was elected vice president, and junior Terry Schneider secretary-treasurer at the W-Club meeting last week. Senior Tom Van Wyngarden was elected president last spring.

COACH OLSON holds a tackling dummy while junior Hank Sowers plows into it. Junior Gerald Buckler stands by.

Coach Olson Sees His Goal Fulfilled

By Darrell Jobman

New coach Dave Olson looks upon his position at Wartburg as the fulfillment of a lifetime dream.

"My goal was to teach at a Christian church college. I'd like to continue for some time," said Olson.

Olson is the newest addition to the Wartburg coaching staff. He is backfield in football and will assist in track next spring. In addition, Olson teaches several physical education courses as well as health education.

A native of St. Paul, Minn., Olson went through grade and high schools in Moorhead, Minn., and also graduated from Concordia College there in 1956. He received his M. A. from the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, a year later.

While at Minnesota and later at the University of Maryland, Olson was a graduate assistant and taught half-time. He also worked on his doctorate in the meantime but still has a year or so to go.

"I'd like to go ahead and get my doctor's degree," Olson said when talking about future plans.

Prior to coming to Wartburg, Olson taught at Nicolet High School in Milwaukee, where he served as a P. E. and health teacher and was head track coach. He also was an assistant coach in both football and swimming.

During his high school and college career, Olson picked up many letters in baseball and football. He lettered four years in baseball in both high school and college but has never coached the sport in school.

During the summer Olson was the assistant director at the Sidney-Hill camp for boys in northern Wisconsin, and his wife served as camp nurse.

"It's enjoyable because it's a change from the ordinary routine," the new coach commented.

A member of the naval reserve ("I get out Dec. 4, 1960"), Olson is married and has a two-year-old daughter, who is, he added with a grin, "extremely cute and smart."

Originally an Augustana Lutheran, Olson now goes to St. Paul's Church here.

As to his impressions after three weeks in Waverly, Olson said, "Both my wife and I are favorably impressed with the community and school. The warmth of the faculty and students is most impressive. Another thing that has impressed me is the feeling of loyalty toward the college."

Although this is his first year in the conference, Olson already seems to know all about the opponents. As to another championship, he feels that Wartburg "will have an uphill battle all the way because everybody's looking for us."

Olson's plans for the future have been partially completed by coming to Wartburg. He says he's not shooting for any big-time football job, but he would like to be a head coach someday.

CHALK TALK

By Tom Kuckkahn

Last Saturday Wartburg's football team showed that it is still the team to beat in the Iowa Conference, as the Knights downed Luther 20-7.

However, if they are to remain the champs, they can not allow a feeling of complacency to take precedence. The season is just beginning, and every team they encounter will be striving for an upset, victory — as was shown last night.

Two years ago a spirited UIU squad threw a scare into the Jomen. The Knights had a comfortable 20-0 lead at half-time and started the second half as though the game was over.

UIU, with a never-say-die attitude, pulled up to a 20-20 tie. The Knights thrilled the fans as they scored on the final play of the game for the victory.

Sometimes one of the league's mediocre teams penetrates the champs' ego. Last year, Central, one of the weaker squads in the Iowa Conference, provided the Knights with their closest encounter of the season. Wartburg came out on the long end of the 18-12 score, but not before realizing that every game is a tough one when you're the champ.

All the IC teams have reason to respect and fear the battling Knights. The NAIA small college ratings, which came out following the Simpson game, place the Knights in a most admirable position — 27th in the nation over-all. They received the number four position in team total defense and also hold eighth position in pass defense.

Fullback Wayne Dreier and quarterback Marv Ott received individual honors. Wayne was ranked 20th in rushing and Marv was fifth in punting.

One more thought from the armchair quarterback. The men seem to be doing an excellent spirit-building job on campus with their pep rallies. When are the girls going to break tradition and have a pep rally for the boys?

Jomen Bow 18-12, Snap Win Record

By Bill Wachholz and Chuck Jepsen

FAIRFIELD — Parsons outlasted Wartburg here last night and defeated the Knights by an 18 to 12 score.

Wartburg led at halftime 12-0, but second half passing of quarterback Gary Gardner turned the tide in favor of the Kelly Greens.

Late in the first period, Parsons fumbled deep in its own territory. A few plays later Marv Ott threw a nine-yard screen pass to Tom VanWyn-garden for the touchdown. The kick failed and Wartburg had a 6-0 lead early in the second period.

LATER IN THE same quarter, strong runs by fullback Wayne Dreier led a Wartburg attack which carried the Knights to the four-yard line. At this point Dreier scored on a short plunge. The extra point attempt was blocked.

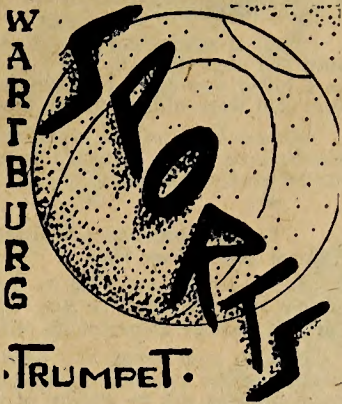

Knight defense shone in the first half, as Wartburg had the Parsons attack completely stopped.

It was a completely different story in the second half as the Kelly Greens took to the air-lanes to riddle the Knight defenses.

IN THE THIRD quarter Parsons intercepted a Marv Ott pass. Two key pass plays took the ball to the Wartburg 20-yard line. At that point quarter-back Gary Gardner threw a pass to end Bob Martin for the touchdown.

In the middle of the fourth period the passing of Gardner again got Parsons rolling to the Knight 30-yard line. From there he tossed a second scoring heave to Martin. The extra point was missed and the score stood at a 12-12 tie.

After the kickoff Wartburg's attack again got rolling, as the Knights drove steadily to the Parsons 19-yard line. At that time freshman halfback Bill Fulcher fumbled after being hit hard and Parsons again had possession of the football.

GARDNER AGAIN went to the air to his favorite targets, ends Martin and Joe Batava. With 1½ minutes remaining in the game, Gardner tossed a 55-yard strike to Martin again, and that wrapped up the first defeat in 18 conference games for the Knights.

Parsons never did gain too much on the ground, but through the air it completely dominated second-half play. Credit must be given to quarter-back Gardner and ends Martin and Batava for spearheading the Parsons attack.

Wartburg's line again played a strong game, especially in the first half, when it had Parsons well under control.

Game statistics revealed that it was Wartburg's running against Parsons' passing.

The Knights gained 237 yards rushing as opposed to the Kelly Green's 84. Parsons attempted 19 passes and completed 10 for a total of 186 yards. Wartburg, on seven completions in 12 trials, gained 77 yards through the air.

CAUGHT BY ONE leg, fullback Wayne Dreier drives ahead anyway, leaving a Luther tackler dangling. The drive helped the Knights take a 20-7 decision from the Norse last Saturday.

Clinton III Tops Week's IM Pigskin Pile

Wartburg had 20 first downs to Parsons' 15.

The Knights' defense against Parsons' ground attack was so effective that they held them to a minus 20 yards in the first half of play.

Thus Wartburg's victory skein is halted at 17 straight conference wins, one more than the previous loop record.

The Knights now turn to traditional rival Upper Iowa. The Peacocks come to Schield Stadium for a 1:30 p.m. game next Saturday.

The victor of this Saturday's game will receive the victory bell, a traveling trophy that goes to the winning team in the Wartburg-Upper Iowa game. The bell has been at home in Knights' Gym for the past two years.

Last year at Fayette Wartburg dominated the entire game and won over the Peacocks 41-8.

Upper Iowa, with a young squad, has yet to win its first game of the current campaign. Two weeks ago Parsons had a tough time beating them 8-0.

After the first week of play, Clinton III leads the intramural football standings.

With two victories and no defeats, Clinton III is in sole possession of first place, while Grossmann III and Waverly are tied for the runner-up position.

CLINTON III won over Clinton II in the last minute of play on a pass from Al Buenn-ing to Ted Kalkwarf. Its other victory came as a result of a forfeit by Grossmann I and Basement.

Clinton II, on two touchdowns by Dave Langrock, downed North Hall 27-12. In other games, Waverly rolled over North Hall 33-19, Grossmann III trounced Vollmer House 26-0, and Grossmann I and Basement won by forfeit over Off-campus.

NEXT WEEK'S schedule pits Waverly against Grossmann III and Off-campus against Vollmer on Monday. On Tuesday Clinton faces Grossmann I and Basement, and North Hall faces Grossmann III.

On Thursday Clinton III and Vollmer will battle it out, as will Waverly and Off-campus.

Knights Win Over Luther On Saturday

By Tom Kuckkahn

Wartburg's football squad continued its winning ways last Saturday as it downed a powerful Luther team 20-7 for its 17th straight conference victory.

Knights now hold the league record for consecutive victories. They had been tied with Central with 16.

The Norsemen scored first as they recovered a Knight fumble in Wartburg's end zone.

BEHIND 7-0, the Knights came to life and completely dominated the Norsemen the rest of the afternoon as Marv Ott, sensational quarterback, provided the leadership.

The Knights' first score came late in the first quarter. End Don Lehmann picked up a fumble and ran 30 yards before he was finally downed on the one. Ott scored on the next play.

Another Luther fumble led to the Knights' second tally. A Luther runner was tackled on his own five as he attempted to return a punt. He fumbled and Wartburg recovered.

AFTER SEVERAL failures Ott finally passed to Tom VanWyn-garden for the TD. Dennis Krominga added the point.

After several long drives had failed, the Knights scored again late in the final quarter. Ott got off a beautiful punt, which rolled out of bounds on the Norse one. Luther, forced to punt, got the ball out to its own 39. Several plays later Ott scored and Krominga added the point.

The entire backfield played outstanding ball as did the linemen. The linemen showed much improvement over their Simpson performance as they all played excellent football.

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Chuck Wallin One Whale Of A Tackle

By Darrell Jobman

Who will be the all-conference tackles this year?

Nobody knows for sure as yet, but they might have faced each other last night. Two Chucks — Chuck Dostal of Parsons, who was all-conference last season, and Chuck Wallin of Wartburg, who should be all-conference this year — have the inside track.

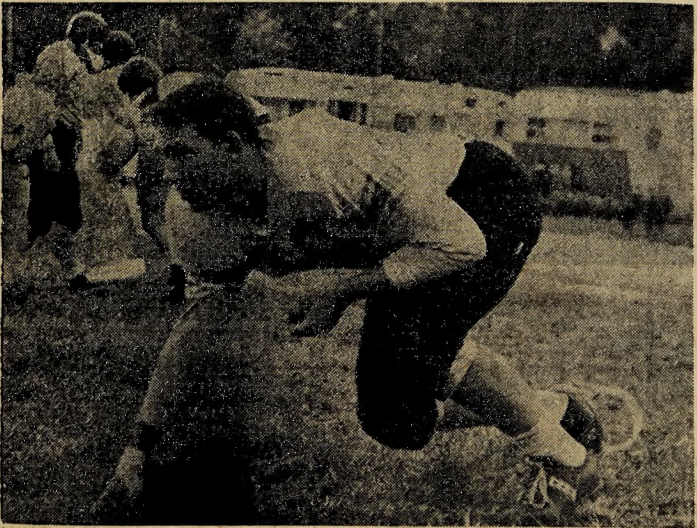

Wallin at 210 pounds gives Wartburg one of the best tackles in the conference. Last year he received honorable mention on the conference list, was on the all-district defensive team and landed a berth on the All-Lutheran second team.

Those are some of Wallin's credentials, but it's his rugged play each week that sparks the Knight defense. This year he has also been an understudy at fullback. Wallin was originally a full-back but was switched to tackle.

"Both positions have their advantages," grinned Wallin, declining to say which he preferred.

Besides being a star football player, Wallin holds the school discus record of 143 feet. As a sophomore he won the event at the conference meet but placed second last year.

Asked if he thought he could break the school record again, Wallin said, "I'd like to. I'm shooting for the conference record of 151 feet."

WARTBURG'S STAR tackle Chuck Wallin crouches in readiness. Wallin, who is one of the most stalwart players on the Knights' team, is being mentioned as a possible all-conference candidate this year.

Wallin is a senior from Gaylord, Minn. In high school he picked up a pile of letters in football, basketball and track, getting four in each sport.

At Wartburg Wallin will get his fourth football letter and should pick up his third track monogram next spring.

Wallin is a social work major here and plans to take graduate work after finishing at Wartburg. His future plans are to obtain a position with a child care agency. Presently, he is working at the Children's Home in Waverly.

A member of both W-Club and Camera Club, Wallin is married and expects a little Wallin any time now.

Winning the state high school discus throw and beating Luther 26-0 last year are Wallin's biggest sports thrills so far, he says. He, like the other seniors, seems to really enjoy whipping Luther.

As far as this year goes, Wallin says without a trace of doubt, "We'll win the conference."

Well, with Wallin whalin' 'em, the chances certainly look bright.

Cruising Around

Well, is everyone all Outflitted out? Only 28 more school weeks until the next Outfly!! And I do have a question. There seem to be a lot of new faces on campus. Can they possibly be the same ones that were hidden under those lovely orange beanies before?

At any rate, on the organization side of our education, there doesn't seem to be too much doing next week. Maybe it's time we started studying a little?
